Foundation News and Annual Report

School Highlights 2003-2004

as reported in the Kalaheo High School Newsletter and Ka Leo O Kalaheo

Whether you are a Kalaheo graduate, parent, community member or supporter, please enjoy this brief look at last school year. Gleaned from monthly school newsletters and student newspapers, here's a sampling of the school's varied activities and outstanding accomplishments.

August

Student leaders attend summer events where they learn to plan and improve student government activities.

Ten teachers attend a summer International Advanced Placement Institute at Kapiolani Community College.

Kalaheo welcomes 15 new teachers.

The first day of the school year is New Student Orientation Day. Freshmen and other new students attend morning events to meet new people, play games, tour the school and sign up for activities.

Kalaheo begins its 31st year of athletic competition, fielding 51 teams in 17 sports.

September

A new school P.R.I.D.E. program encourages positive attitude, respect, integrity, discipline and excellence.

With fifty percent more cadets than last school year, NJROTC expands in size from battalion to company; the company conducts a flag ceremony once a week at 7:45 am. in front of H-Building.

The PTSA and PCNC organize activities for Make-a-Difference Day when parents, students and staff members work to improve the campus.

Two fundraisers are announced: Christmas tree and Entertainment Book sales.

A Communications Academy is launched, thereby aligning a portion of the curriculum with the national high school reform movement.

Students continue traditional complaints about school lunches, except on kalua pig days when even alumni are spotted in the too-long lunch lines.

Mandatory Senior paper projects will be written on environmental issues.

October

Homecoming activities include dress up days, lunchtime activities, building decorations, a dance, a motorcade and the big game.

Alumni Homecoming Week Dinner is held at Kaneohe Yacht Club.

Students are required to wear school ID badges during the school day and at school-sponsored events.

Eight Communications Academy students pick up 12 awards at the International student Media Festival in Anaheim, CA.

November

The College-Career Center continues to announce SAT prep classes, test dates, financial aid nights, special programs, and a monthly lists of college speakers.

Parents continue to gear up for Project Graduation 2004.

December

Kalaheo's first Special Olympics team prepares to participate in singles bowling and track and field. Six "Holiday Classic" bowling participants receive gold, silver and bronze medals.

AP/Honors teachers seek qualified students for next year's Grade 9-11 Honors classes in English, social studies, math and science, and Advanced Placement courses in Literature, Language, American History, European History, Biology, and Calculus.

Highlights

Food Services students apply their cooking and presentation skills to creating Spam Benedict, Smoky Cheddar Potatoes with Spam, Spam Vegetable Lumpia, Spam Hawaiian Pockets and more. (The Food Services teacher retires, a decision unrelated to the Spam Cookoff!)

Five students participate in the school's Road to Fame competition finals.

January/February

"History Day at Night" features National History Day projects by junior social studies students. Documentaries, project boards, theatrical performances and papers are displayed throughout the library for viewing by the Kalaheo community.

The librarian announces an increasing number of online subscription databases with both school and remote access for teachers, students and their families.

March

ASK leads celebration of Drug Free Week with a Valentine's theme.

First semester Honor Roll students (3.5+ gpa) receive certificates plus cake and ice cream treats.

The "Second-Hand Drive" collects clothing and other items for St. Anthony Parish Outreach.

April

A team of educators representing the Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC) were positively impressed when they spent four days on campus prior to recommending a term of accreditation. (Based on the school's Accreditation Report and the visitation, Kalaheo subsequently received a six-year term.)

Six students win at the Windward District Science Fair, including a first place winner invited to participate in both the State and International Competition.

The Hawaii Academy of Science recognizes three Kalaheo students for their award-winning science projects.

The Sixth Annual PTSA Silent Auction and Wine Tasting fundraiser at Koolau Golf Club is another huge success. The event supports the PTSA scholarship and enrichment fund.

Senior Prom is held at the Hilton Hawaiian Village Tapa Ballrooms in Waikiki.

Junior Language Arts classes celebrate American literary tradition with an "American Writers" evening event in the Kalaheo library.

May/June

Students perform scenes and recite soliloquies and sonnets at the Shakespeare Festival, an evening event sponsored by the Language Arts Department.

Four students perform in "Bye Bye Birdie!" at Castle High School's Bright Theater.

Four Special Olympics students take first place in Windward District track and field events.

Kalaheo celebrates Multicultural Month, this year featuring Portuguese, Italian, and Tahitian. Activities included a spaghetti eating contest and lei-making.

See pages 4 and 5 for photos of daily life at Kalaheo High School.

Alumni Updates

Mandy Lantry Crow '79, husband and their two children live in Seattle, WA. She's a freelance technical writer/editor and web content manager. For the last two years, Mandy has kept busy running after her very active toddler.

Julie Hales '80 finished medical billing schooling in Ventura, CA, fulfilled her goal of moving back to hometown Kailua, and is getting established in her new career.

Bruce Voss '80 became a partner in January 2003 at Honolulu law firm of Bays Deaver Lung Rose and Baba.

Lisa Horak Zanin '81 and husband have two luxury custom home subdivisions and are planning to move back to Hawaii when their projects and other homes are completed. They and their seven-year-old daughter live in Laveen, AZ.

Geary Campbell Morris '82 was married in June 2004 in Falls Church, VA. Sarah Emery Flynn '82 and Laurie Thiry Touchberry '81 attended the event.

Darren Tanaka '89, a science teacher since 1994 at Kailua Intermediate School, is currently on sabbatical to complete his Masters in Library and Information Science at the University of Hawaii, Manoa, hoping to start the newest phase of his educational career as a school library media specialist. Darren, his wife and son live in Windward Oahu.

Todd Apilado '90 and his wife make their home in Lihue, Kauai. In addition to designing web pages and working at the Po'ipu Bay Golf Course restaurant, Todd is doing business as T&D Mobile DJ Entertainment.

Jordan Shanahan '95 appeared this summer in "The Mikado" at Honolulu's Blaisdell Concert Hall. Jordan graduated from Temple University, PA, and, in addition to other performance activities, completed a professional contract with the Des Moines Opera Theater.

Chris Delaunay '94 is serving as an intern for Hawaii Congressman Ed Case in his D.C. office. Chris earned his AA in 1999 from Windward Community College and a BA in psychology in 2001 from the University of Hawaii, Manoa. He is currently working toward a MA in Foreign Affairs, at American University, with plans to enter law school after the internship.

Maila Spencer Ednie '94 lives in Gig Harbor, WA,, and finishing dental hygiene school. After spending some time "trying to be an artist," she decided bill-paying "artistic dentistry" was a good decision, and it allows her to still create the art she loves. No kids, no pets yet.

Sean Gallagher '94 has been in the USAF for six years and missed his 10th Reunion due to the situation in Iraq.

Sean is assigned at Cheyenne Mountain, CO.

Lee Gore '94 of Tacoma, WA, missed his 10th Reunion but is looking forward to others, including one in about 50 years!

Jennifer Johnson Madden '94, husband and their two children live in Ellijay, GA, northwest of Atlanta. Jennifer owns a local art gallery and home theater store; she's also manager and realtor for a local firm.

Jeremy Morris '94 and family live in Cincinnati, OH.

Kevin Murphy '94 works for a business consulting firm in Scottsdale Arizona.

Christi Wolf Peoples '94 lives north of Denver, CO, with her husband and two children. She graduated from UNLV, then worked in graphic design prior to becoming a stay-at-home mom.

Jennifer Peters '94 recently moved from TN to VA.

Mary Pomaikai '94 recently moved from Ft. Bragg, NC, to Texas.

Daniel Shrout '94, his wife and two children live in CA.

Steve Thorne '94 briefly played football at Ohio State, worked for an audit company, moved to Baton Rouge, LA, and now works for FedEx in NC.

Josh Tinker '94 attended Colorado State University, earning his BS in Mechanical Engineering, then began a career at Seagate Technology where he is currently transitioning to Strategic Marketing Product Management. Josh and his Minnesotan wife married in 1997 and have three girls.

Orlando Villarreal '94 reports that "the Marine Corps still has me end-over-end" but he was going to try to make his 10th Reunion.

Clesson Werner '94 works for HPD and wife Emi '96 is with United Airlines reservations. No kids, one dog.

Kriystina Kinney Yadao '94 and high school sweetheart husband Edy married in 2000, live in Mililani, HI, and have three children. Krystina teaches pre-school at Unity School near Diamond Head.

Myah Moore '99 is a Columbia University graduate student and Assistant Director of Alumni Relations at the Teachers' College. In 2003, Myah earned her BA at Lewis & Clark, Oregon, where she founded a Multicultural Hall. She also served as Miss Oregon and competed in the Miss USA Pageant.
