Honoring Our Alumni

Fellow alumni, do you remember back in high school when we would sit around and talk about all the great things we planned to do after we graduated, and all the wonderful people we would become?

We assumed we would be better parents, better teachers, better athletes, better actors, and better leaders than anyone who ever came before us. Our world was just beginning to take shape. We were ready to take on anything and everything. We would pursue success, of course, and we would achieve it.

So, did we? Of course we did! Kalaheo alumni are now terrific parents, teachers, doctors, lawyers, coaches, mechanics, military officers, chefs, business people, managers, and much more. They have excelled in diverse fields of endeavor, and they are truly making their marks in society.

Proposed by Principal Dr. Jim Schlosser, the Kalaheo Alumni Honor Awards were created to recognize our graduates, those who have excelled in business, community service, academics, the arts, and science.

Please acknowledge your success and the successes of your fellow alumni by submitting Alumni Honor Award Nomination Forms, included in this newsletter. These nominations allow all members of the Kalaheo community—students, alumni, parents and supporters—to “share the pride.”

Thank you for helping the Alumni Association honor excellence in the achievements of Kalaheo graduates!

Reasons to Give

These days, every organization—academic, political, social, or environmental—is raising money for one cause or another. The Kalaheo High School Foundation is no different, and our fundraising is never an easy task. Charitable giving is most gratifying when we know our donations support a particularly worthy cause; educational excellence certainly qualifies. When considering your charitable contributions, remember the reasons you should make the Kalaheo Foundation a top priority.

To Support Student Learning

The support of student achievement and academic excellence is the Foundation's primary mission. Annual grants enhance and enrich school programs.

To Create a Lasting Legacy

Contributions to the endowment fund will help meet students' needs for year and years to come.

To Establish Honors and Memorials

Gifts to honor classmates, teachers, and others are welcomed. We invite contributions in memory of Dr. Moss M. Ikeda, Kalaheo High School's first principal and Foundation board member. Dr. Ikeda passed away last month at the age of 68. He left us his love of learning and his desire to help others achieve their full potential. He will be greatly missed.

Whether you have a few extra dollars to contribute or the stock market has been very good to you this year, we ask for your financial support. Complete the membership form in this newsletter and send your tax-deductible contribution today.

Faculty and Staff: Retirements and Other Updates

Karen Kanda

Kalaheo will bid fond Alohas to two retiring faculty members. Together, they have taught sixty-six years on the Mainland and in the public schools of Hawaii.

English teacher Fred Cadieux, a native of New Bedford, Massachusetts, received his BA in Social Studies, History and English from Boston University and his MA in History from Loyola Marymount. He taught 26 year in the Compton Unified School District (Los Angeles) and arrived in Hawaii in 1990. He taught at Kaiser High School for a year, transferring to Kalaheo in 1991. Fred recalls the culture shock he experienced upon arrival in Hawaii, and he quickly adapted to pidgin and other aspects of our island ways.

During his tenure at Kalaheo, many changes were observed in Fred, including his changing hair color after visits to the hair stylist. After one summer vacation, he received numerous comments from his colleagues about his new earring. Fred is an accomplished keyboard musician, a world-class traveler, and sailor. For his retirement, he is building a home in Palm Springs where he will “catch tan” and surf the Internet. His departing words of wisdom: “Stay young, stay healthy!”

Science teacher James Redmond, a native of Dansville, NY, received his BS in General Science from the University of Buffalo and his MA in Education from Pepperdine.

Jim taught for three years in Buffalo, NY, and then moved to Hawaii where he taught for 13 years at the Hawaii Youth Correctional Facility. He has been at Kalaheo since 1990 where he has taught science and coached wrestling, football, and cross-country.

Jim is a jazz aficionado, plays a mean trombone, and never misses the annual Sacramento Jazz Festival. He notes a memorable moment in his educational career: “I experienced educational enlightenment at the Hawaii Youth Correctional Facility!” On a more serious and positive note, Jim has enjoyed encouraging students to enter the International Bridge Building Competition.

Jim and his wife have three children, including two Kalaheo alumni, and will relocate to Venice, FL.

In Memoriam

Dr. Moss M. M. Ikeda

1931-2000

Kalaheo High School’s First Principal

Alumni Updates

We're a bit tardy in reporting some of our alumni news, but most of what follows should be fairly accurate. If not, just send us an update!

Ian Fraser ('80) and Mary Schaleger Fraser ('80) were married in 1988, settled in Marina del Rey, CA, and have a daughter, age 10, plus twin sons, age 8. Ian graduated from Loyola Marymount University with a degree in Political science and works as Payroll Manager for Santa Monica College. Mary received her Master's in Education from LMU and is Manager of Technology Training and Development for the School of Education at LMU.

Norm Chai's ('80) fourteen-year marriage to Kamehameha grad Lori Wong has produced four children ("3 boys and finally a girl") ages 11, 9, 7, 5. Norm graduated from UH Manoa with a BA in Mathematics. "(Former Kalaheo math teacher Dennis) Matsumoto should be proud, plus no papers to write." Norm received his Master's in Aeronautical Science with Distinction from Embry-Riddle University. He earned a commission through the Air Force ROTC program at UH, went to navigator training at Mather AFB, CA, then became a B-52 navigator and instructor navigator at Andersen AFB, Guam. Selected to attend pilot training at Laughlin AFB, TX, Norm became a KC-135 copilot then aircraft commander stationed at Beale AFB, CA, and McConnell AFB, Kansas. He transitioned into the C-141 as aircraft commander back at Travis AFB, CA. Now at Vance AFB, OK, Major Chai helps student pilots earn their wings as an instructor pilot in the T-1, and has 5-1/2 years to go for 20 years of service.

Christie Raymond ('95), another graduate of Embry-Riddle, recently accepted a position with United Space Alliance, the prime contractor for mission control at NASA's Houston Space Center. Christie will be a flight controller in the electrical power group working on the international space station. She will be one of the engineers responding when astronauts on the station say, "Houston we have a problem." As a junior at Embry-Riddle, Christie participated in a cooperative work program with Raytheon Aircraft in Wichita, KS, where she worked on a military turbo jet fighter/trainer and in the design and testing phase for a new corporate executive jet.

Pat Lopes ('87) graduated in 1991 from Washington and Lee University in Virginia with a BA in journalism and politics. In 1993 as a Rhodes Scholar, she graduated with a second BA in Modern History from Oxford University, England. She has worked as a consultant, a newsletter editor for a Washington, D.C. association, and as reporter with American City Business Journals, parent company of Pacific Business News. Pat is married, lives in San Jose, CA, and is contemplating getting out of the journalism rat race to become a magazine writer. As for Pat's siblings. . .

John Lopes ('79) and his wife have a two-year-old daughter and live in Kailua.

Anne Lopes ('82) is a physician in the Air Force, stationed at Vandenberg.

Liane Taniguchi Lakin ('79) and her husband John have two children ages

6 and 8. Liz earned a BBA from University of Hawaii, Manoa, and a BGS from Roosevelt University. Liane is a systems analyst with the State of Hawaii, Dept. of Accounting and General Services. She enjoys swimming, reading and house cleaning (ha! ha!). . . Firefighter Paul Schrader ('78) is married with two children. . . Liann Speed ('94) is a dancer, assists with choreography, and learns Polynesian styles performing in shows on Guam. . . Alisan Speed ('96) is a third year Systems and Industrial Engineering student at Kettering University in Flint, MI. Alisan recently returned from a four-month exchange in Glasgow, Scotland. . . Jeff Yee ('90), married and still working in the computer field, sends congratulations to the Foundation for making its fundraising goal. (The Foundation thanks Jeff for his generous support since inception. A little known fact: Jeff was the very first alumni to contribute to the Foundation. What a Mustang!) . . . Alex Ress ('90) received his Bachelor's in Geological Science from Indiana University and until recently was a commercial pilot for Aloha Island Air. In December, he'll finish Air Force pilot training in Wichita Falls, TX, and then fly with the Hawaii National Guard. . . Kekela Aspelund ('91) graduated in 1996 from Hawaii Pacific University and works as a sales executive for Hinano Tahiti Hawaii. . . Alexia Floyd ('91) graduated with honors from the University of San Francisco in 1995 and, at last report, was working as a computer network assistant at CCSF. . . Higher school teacher Gabriel Finn ('79) is married with three children. . . A realtor for the 14 years, Larry Saito ('77) is partner/owner of Pacific Resource Realty. Larry is married with two children, ages 2 and 5. . . Following careers in print and broadcast journalism, Bruce Voss ('80) earned his law degree at the University of Hawaii at Manoa and is associate attorney at Bays, Deaver, Hiatt, Lung & Rose in Honolulu. Bruce and his wife Liane have a three-year-old daughter. . . Corey Voss ('83) is Food and Beverage Manager at Oahu Country Club in Nuuanu Valley. . . Nalani Wong-Deville ('79) is married with two "super kids," ages 9 and 3. She travels the world with United Airlines.
