H-Building Courtyard — In one of the four planters, colorful crotons and pothos groundcover now surround the Mustang sculpture under the plumeria tree.

The adjacent planter has been cleared and replanted with croton, and groundcover is coming soon. The Asian garden will also get some needed attention.

For landscaping advice, mahalo to Koba's Nursery and Glenn's Nursery, both in Waimanalo.

A fourth planter contains an orange metal sculpture titled "Graduation" by Jim Charlton. Due to several areas of rust, the State's Conservation Coordinator has been contacted, and we will follow-up regarding needed repairs.

The sculpture is a product of the Art in Public Places Program established by the State Legislature in 1967 which designated one percent of the construction costs of new buildings for the acquisition of works of art, either by commission or purchase.

Members of the KHSF Projects and Programs Committee will continue their work until they are satisfied that the spacious courtyard is a visual expression of school pride.

Did you know? Another Arts in Public Places artwork on the school campus is "The Spirit of the Koolaus" by Claude Horan.

School Archives — In 2023, Kalaheo High School will celebrate its 50th Anniversary. The KHSF Projects and Programs Committee is collaborating with Kalaheo librarian Danielle Fujii to ensure that decades of school history are preserved by expanding and managing the existing archive collection. Toward that goal, committee members and the librarian recently visited Punahou School's archives.

Legacy Scholarships — The Foundation's Legacy Scholarships are available to graduating seniors who are children of Kalaheo alumni. Scholarship applications are available in the College-Career Center.

Class Reunion — October 10-13, 2019, are the dates for the Class of 1979's multi-year reunion to include alumni from 1976, 1977, 1978, 1979, 1980, and 1981—the first six classes to graduate from Kalaheo. Reunion details are at www.kalaheo79reunion.com.
